Aldermen lobbied by county officials to keep CD program

By Dave Gosnell.

GRANITE CITY — City officials are being lobbied by county officials to stay with Madison County's Community Development program as the city comes closer to voting on the issue.

Fourth Ward Alderwoman Shari Perjak, who has advocated that the city get the Community Development money directly from the federal government instead of through the county, said she and other city officials have been approached to stay in the county's program.

Perjak said she was contacted by Mary Kane, of the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois.

Other lobbying included a letter to Mayor Von Dee Cruse from county Community Development administrator Cheryl Joutet; this letter also was sent to the homes of many aldermen. Joutet and another Community Development administrator, Joe Parente, also have made calls to the last few days urging many aldermen not to pull out of the county's program, said some aldermen.

Perjak said there is likely to be a special City Council meeting on Monday to decide the issue.

"Mary Kane would not like us to do it (withdraw)," Perjak said.

Though Kane is not a county official, she was once the county's Community Development administrator and the administrative aide to the Madison County Board.

Perjak said Kane was concerned about a federal low-interest loan program administered by the County as part of the Community Development program. It gives low-interest loans to qualifying businesses.

Kane fears that withdrawal by the city would affect the Leadership Council's ability to attract business to the region.

Kane said she was concerned that, if the city pulled out of the county's program, the city might spend most of its money on infrastructure such as sewer breaks and have little left for loan incentives.

"My concern was that ... they (aldermen) are going to have many conflicting pressures for the money. Should the city use it all up, it would not have low-in-

$30 million budget for District 9

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A $30 million budget for the 1987-88 year was adopted Tuesday by the District 9 School Board.

Expenditures are estimated to be $30,558,552 and anticipated revenue $28,148,065, a difference of $2,410,487. Tax rates are expected to remain the same as now, said Norm Owen, the district's finance director.

Much of the imbalance involves use of proceeds of past school building sales, to pay for improving the remaining schools. And more than 40 percent of the budget imbalance was caused by a scheduled state aid cut of more than $1 million. The final budget figures are slightly different from the tentative budget enacted last month, Owen said. That proposal projected expenses of $30,351,910 and revenue of $28,125,397, a difference of $2,226,513. Additional expenditures were added Tuesday in the building fund and for special education student needs, Owen said.

Last year's '86-87 budget totaled $29,128,174. The $30,558,552 budgeted for '87-88 is "final," but could be revised through next June.

The 1987 real estate tax levy affecting the '88-89 school year may be enacted in October 1987 and could be revised until the fourth Tuesday of December, deadline for forwarding it to County Clerk Eulalia Holz for next summer's tax collection. However, with most Granite City school system accounts already at their authorized rate limits, no major levy changes are foreseen, Owen said.

Teachers are in the second year of a two-year contract and there is a salary reopening clause. December is the deadline for completing pay negotiations for the July 1987-June 1988 period.

Eagle Park man killed by gunshot

The Madison County Sheriff Department is investigating the death of a black male found at 2 p.m. Wednesday in an isolated area near Eagle Park Road. Foul play is suspected.

An autopsy performed Wednesday afternoon determined the man died of a gunshot wound to the head. His body was partially decomposed and it is estimated he was at that location from two to four days.

The male is about 16 to 25 years of age, between 5 feet 2 inches tall and 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighed about 120 to 150 pounds. He had "black" hair. There were no scars, tattoos or other identifying marks on the body, a Madison County deputy said.

The victim was wearing Levi Strauss blue jeans, a brown braided leather belt with a Levi Strauss buckle, a gray sleeveless shirt with two wide black stripes down the front, a light-colored baseball cap with an emblem of two golf clubs crossed on the front and red and blue colors across the bill of the cap, size 8 1/2 white Converse tennis shoes, white socks and he had a gray pick comb in his pocket.

He was pronounced dead at the scene by Ed Werner, Madison County deputy coroner.

Officials at the sheriff's office ask anyone with information about the man to call 1-692-4433.

Courthouse facelift not pretty sight

Board member fears service loss to area

By David Rocks
and Jack C. Ventimiglia
P/RJ Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — Money is included in an appropriations bill for renovation of the historic East St. Louis federal courthouse, bringing renewed concern from a Madison County Board member about plans for the courthouse annex.

The Senate passed the $15 billion Treasury Department appropriations bill on Friday. The bill includes $3.7 million for a facelift for the courthouse.

Work on the project will not begin until construction of the $8.6 million courthouse annex is completed in February, said regional planning chief David Hood of the General Services Administration. The GSA oversees construction of all federal buildings.

In fall 1986, the Madison and Jersey county boards, Granite City and other communities — led by Madison County Board member William Haine of Alton — protested that the judiciary planned to phase out services in Alton and concentrate them in East St. Louis.

Haine said Wednesday that Senate funding for the courthouse in Alton indicates the concern of area residents is not being heeded.

More than 5,000 area residents signed petitions last year protesting a plan to consolidate federal courthouse services by moving services from Alton to East St. Louis. Sens. Paul Simon and Alan Dixon and U.S. Rep. Mel Price have given assurances that the Alton courthouse would be kept at its present service level, but Haine said the recent appropriation leaves him uncertain.

"I'm still not assured that this thing is not proceeding with its own bureaucratic momentum," Haine said.

He believes that when the courthouse in East St. Louis is completed, Alton will lose at least some of its courthouse functions.

"The continued appropriation of money on these buildings in East St. Louis means the federal government must justify its expenditures for the amount of space. I just don't know what compelled the federal government to decide this. We're going to lose a significant amount here

County cable TV panel will meet

A Madison County cable task force, formed nearly two months ago, will hold its first meeting on Monday, Oct. 5, according to Mark Goldenberg, co-chairman of the 15-member panel. He is city attorney of Granite City.

Barry Babcock, executive vice president for Cencom Cable Television, said the company has not decided if it will participate in the first meeting.

The task force will meet in the county board's meeting room in the courthouse at Edwardsville at 7 p.m.

Goldenberg and the other co-chairman, Charles Rodell of Granite City, will participate in a meeting with at least one Cencom representative on Monday. The two will give a report about the meeting to the full panel.

The task force was formed by Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen in July. Allen has spearheaded a crusade against the company's operation based in Maryville, "alleging the business was using deceptive marketing practices for its pay-per-view service."

Goldenberg said he and Rodell have met with Dennis Orsey, director of the attorney general's regional office in Granite City. They have also met twice with Myles McCall, who works for Allen and serves as the liaison between the task force and Allen.

"We're trying to keep an open mind on it," Babcock said. "I think the commission will try to do a conscientious job."

However, Babcock still has reservations because he maintains the panel was formed by Allen to drum up political publicity.

He said many of the task force members told Cencom they found out they were on the task force when they read articles in area newspapers.

"We never have been able to understand the purpose of the task force," Babcock said.

Goldenberg said he has spoken with Cencom representatives on the phone on several occasions. He described the company's reaction as "cautious but willing to recognize (the task force) exists."

However, Goldenberg said the task force will not officially discuss its goals until the Oct. 5 meeting.

Babcock said subscribers' complaints have dropped dramatically, which he attributed to improvements Cencom has made since it bought the Maryville-based cable business from South-Western last year.

Cencom has about 25,000 subscribers in the Collinsville, Maryville, Granite City and Edwardsville areas.

Since Allen began his public criticism of Cencom in March, Babcock said, the company has kept the same number of subscribers.

"I was a little bit surprised by that, too," Babcock said.

The task force is expected to issue a recommendation to Allen when its study is completed. Allen is considering filing charges against Cencom.

terest loans available. It would make it very difficult" for the Leadership Council to offer incentives, she said.

A community development agency can offer 3 percent, five-year loans up to $100,000 to qualifying businesses.

Kane also said the Madison County Board may take a negative view of a city withdrawal and vote not to allow federal loan money to be used for potential Granite City businesses.

The city could start its own low-interest loan program under a new local Community Development Agency, Perjak said. She said that, in her opinion, the county has not adequately helped the city use the low-interest incentive.

"If there's a company that's there (in the city) because of the county, we don't know it. I can't believe that as a city we could not offer the same incentives as the county," Perjak said.

Kane said she did not know if there were any companies which were enticed to come to Granite City because of the program, though she said Joutet could probably offer that information.

Kane said there have been numerous businesses in the county that the incentive has helped.

Repeated attempts to reach Joutet on Wednesday were unsuccessful. Granite City has a special status as a "central city" with the federal government. This status allows the city to start its own Community Development Agency.

Perjak has said that the city could get more money if it got its entitlement, which would have been at least $661,000 in 1986, directly from the government.

get won't have to be made up by the district because money is to be used from existing reserves. Owca said. He said the budget shows some expenditures greater than anticipated revenue because of the use of past savings.

The district will lose $1,036,516 in once-authorized state funds this year, including $887,002 in the education fund and $149,513 in the transportation fund, Owca said. State aid is now estimated at $11,998,263, compared to $13,034,779 received for the last school year.

The reduction is due to Gov. James Thompson's July cuts in education funding, Owca said.

"Of course, the revenue picture could change if a legislative override is voted this fall," he said.

The county has estimated the city received about $317,000 in Community Development funds from the county in 1986.

The city would also have the opportunity to better control how the money is spent, Perjak said. She said the county was aware three years ago that the city was unhappy about its portion of the county's Community Development money, but had not increased the city's portion during that time.

If the city withdrew, it would have to set up its own agency. Under federal rules, an agency can use up to 20 percent of its entitlement to pay for administration.

The county now administers all Community Development money for county communities. The county's appropriation is based on the entitlements of individual communities and the county would receive a reduction in its appropriation if the city pulled out.

The county has offered the city two options as an incentive to stay in the program. Both would grant the city a larger percentage of the county's Community Development pie, but would still be under what the city's entitlement would be on its own.

It is expected that the City Council's Intergovernmental Committee will recommend that the city start its own agency.

Two of three committee members, Perjak and 3th Ward Alderman Dan Partney, are in favor of withdrawing. The other member, 2nd Ward Alderman Jake Varadani, could not be reached for comment.

It was not possible to determine whether withdrawal would pass the council, but some aldermen have formed opinions.

Third Ward Alderman Brett Hanke said he is in favor of withdrawing.

"We have in the past let Madison County do it after they made all these promises and then did not keep them. They cannot be trusted."

"I am for the city taking control of its own destiny," Hanke said. He also said he is disturbed by "misrepresentations" that he said Joutet has made regarding federal requirements for Community Development agencies.

Sixth Ward Alderman Walter Milton said he will vote against withdrawing even if the committee recommends it.

"I don't think we've been properly trained to administer the thing. I haven't really studied the thing that deeply, but I visualize all kinds of administrative costs," Milton said.

Milton said he had been contacted by Joutet for a discussion of the issue. Second Ward Alderman Jim Miller, who also said he received a call from Joutet urging him not to support a withdrawal, said he is leaning against withdrawal but had not made a firm decision.

"I'd have to see a positive return" to vote for it, Miller said. "I'm unsure about a lot of things, but I can be honest."

Miller said he has received several calls from constituents urging him to vote to stay in the county program.

First Ward Alderman Casner Skubish, who said he received a call from Parente, said he wants some questions answered before he makes up his mind.

Skubish said he has received conflicting information about what would be the city's low-income housing responsibility if it set up its own program.

"It's an important decision," Skubish said. "You wonder who's right. I'm trying to keep an open mind about it."

Skubish said that Parente, during the phone conversation, promised that the city would get everything it is entitled to.

"He said the county would give equal to what we would get on our own," Skubish said.

Bank robber convicted
GRANITE CITY — A former Granite City resident was sentenced to 10 years in federal prison for a robbery committed in Granite City on May 4, according to an FBI report by Thomas Jones, special agent in charge of central and southern Illinois.

Gathel Beaton, 43, was convicted in California for the robbery of the First Granite City Savings and Loan Association, 1825 Delmar Ave.

College bill signed

GRANITE CITY — Changing the Belleville Area College Board election system is allowed by a bill Gov. James R. Thompson signed Sept. 24.

The BAC bill gives the public the right to petition for a referendum to change from at-large to sub-district elections of board members.

Calling the bill "a step into the future," former board member Avery Scheimer, of Granite City, said Friday that after the November election he will ask the board to use a provision in the bill to change the election system without a referendum.

PONTOON BEACH — Gary R. Wallace was hired as a probationary patrolman by the Village Board at its Sept. 22 meeting. His appointment was recommended by Trustee Bob Abel, Police Committee chairman.

Wallace, a Venice police officer for 3 1/2 years, will bring the Pontoon Beach Police Department to a nine-man force, including Police Chief Chet Ballew. He started his assignment Sept. 28.

The Pontoon Beach board also hired Richard Lynn Hays, 22, a police dispatcher for the village for the past three years, as a probationary patrolman/dispatcher.

GRANITE CITY — A Granite

City woman has won seven-county honors in a state program for her service to District 9.

Bea Stevenson will receive a plaque from the Illinois State Board of Education in its "Those Who Excel" Educational Awards Program in the category of "parent" or other community member.

She will receive the award at a banquet Nov. 6 in Matteson, Ill.

City grants rezoning

Despite threats of legal action, the City Council approved a Plan Commission recommendation to rezone an area of Johnson Road. Property at 2657 Johnson Road, the former Midtown Pharmacy business, was rezoned from residential to commercial use. The property had a "non-conforming" use when the pharmacy was in operation.

Nearby residents, led by the Clark-Mercer Neighborhood Confederation, opposed the rezoning because, they say, the rezoning petition was not done properly and they fear that the area of Johnson Road will be entirely rezoned to commercial use.

Six properties on Johnson Road, in a block bordering Wabash Avenue and a Metro East Sanitary District drainage ditch, have been rezoned from residential to commercial in the last 18 months.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED

Many hospitals have adopted a policy which requires a nurse to escort a discharged patient to his car. Is a hospital negligent if it fails to provide this escort and the patient falls and injures himself? This issue arose in a recent case decided by an Illinois Appellate Court.

In this case, the plaintiff was discharged from a hospital in northern Illinois nine days after surgery was performed. On the day she was to be discharged, the plaintiff had taken pain medication prescribed by her doctor. Apparently she received no information concerning the discharge procedures of the hospital.

On the morning in question, the patient began to walk herself toward the nurse's station. According to witnesses, it took her approximately 20 minutes to walk down the hallway because she was slipping and sliding due to her pain. The attending nurse told her she could go ahead and leave.

In the elevator, the plaintiff felt dizzy and nauseous. As she walked toward the hospital entrance, she slipped and fell. She was subsequently admitted to a different hospital for injuries to her legs and back.

Was the hospital negligent in this case? In Illinois, a hospital owes a patient a duty of protection and must exercise a degree of reasonable care toward the patient based on the knowledge of his or her condition. It should be noted that in this case, the attending nurse testified that it was the general policy of the hospital to walk the patient to his car when he was discharged.

The Appellate Court noted that this case involved a breach of an administrative duty to provide discharged patients with an escort. The Court felt that the record contained competent evidence from which a jury could find that the hospital had a duty to escort discharged patients to the first floor or their car, and that the hospital's breach of this duty was the cause of the plaintiff's injuries. The Appellate Court went on to note that whether or not there was negligence here was a question for the jury. The case was sent back to the trial court to allow a jury to decide this question.

Q. In order to make some local investments, I have been seriously considering becoming a limited partner in one or two businesses which I believe have potential. My problem is this area is entirely new to me. Can you briefly explain exactly what my role as a limited partner would be. I think I have a fairly good idea, but I'm not entirely sure.

A. The limited partnership investment is, in fact, the form which most tax shelters take — which is a benefit in itself. A general partner supplies the expertise and ability to operate a particular business, such as real estate or oil and gas — and a group of limited partners invest the capital. Usually, the partnership itself pays no tax. Instead, the investors — as limited partners — report their pro rata share of partnership profit, losses and deductions on their individual returns. Your banker would be happy to give you additional information and advice concerning the benefits and pitfalls of limited partnerships.

The building, part of the district's master plan, would have approximately 10,500 square feet, Kraus said.

Besides housing the Hall of Fame, Kraus said, the building would also house ticket and concession selling areas and restroom facilities to be used during sports events at the school.

This will be a multi-purpose building," he said.

Efforts are being made to construct the building without spending tax money, Kraus said. The committee has more than $8,000 saved, he said, and is soliciting funds and volunteer help.

Kraus said Wednesday he hopes the building will be finished in two years.

"This won't be overnight," he said. "It's going to take some time. I think it's a reality. I think it will get there."

Haine's concerns are that the street crime and other criminal happening in East St. Louis make it an unsafe place. He said also that the courthouse in Alton provides that community with a revenue source.

The Senate passed the appropriation measure 847. Dixon voted for it and Simon was absent. The House approved a similar bill in July.

Appropriations committee staffers expect little delay in the House-Senate conference committee charged with resolving differences in the two versions, and said the final measure could be approved as soon as mid-October.

Hood said the renovation of the four-story historic courthouse should be finished sometime in late 1989.

P-81 Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — A proposed commuter rail system got a boost Wednesday when a Senate panel approved $55.5 million for the project.

The money is to be used to begin construction of MetroLink, a transit system planned to run between East St. Louis and St. Louis Lambert International Airport via Eads Bridge and a tunnel under Eighth Street in downtown St. Louis, and to renovate the tunnel and the railroad deck on the bridge.

Later additions could extend to Granite City and Belleville.

"This really signifies the start of serious money for construction," said Les Sierman, director of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, which has been overseeing the project.

The overall cost of the approximately $335 million project will be shared by the federal government and the City of St. Louis. The federal government will pay $250 million to cover the construction cost and local jurisdictions have added the Eads Bridge, the tunnel and railroad rights-of-way into the project.

The bridge, tunnel and rail lines are valued at $83 million, which covers the mandated one-quarter share the local jurisdiction must contribute to receive the federal money.

The federal dollars are included in the Senate Transportation Appropriations bill, which still needs to be approved by the Senate and the president. If the bill is signed into law, Wednesday's appropriation would be the total amount earmarked for the 18-mile "light rail" transit system since funding began in 1982 to $83 million.

Sierman noted, however, that none of that money has been spent and that final approval of the project awaits a full funding contract between the Urban Mass Transit Administration (UMTA) and local authorities. He said the contract should be signed in mid-November.

But Sierman said the project arose last week when Rep. Jack Buechner, R-Kirkwood, announced he wanted a new study to determine whether income from a half-cent transportation sales tax will cover operating costs for MetroLink without cutting bus service also subsidized with the tax.

But Sierman said the information Buechner has requested already is available, and that if Buechner's study is approved construction could be pushed back.

"We feel like we've been engaged for a decade doing studies of the kind he's asked for," Sierman said. "The information he wants has been produced many times over in several studies. Should such a study go forward, I think it would mean a very significant delay for the project."

The House earlier this year earmarked $55.5 million for the transit system.

Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., a supporter of the project, said in a prepared statement that because the two chambers allocated about the same amount, the project should be approved easily in the conference committee appointed to iron out differences between the two measures.

The bill may come up on the Senate floor as early as next week, Danforth spokesman Steve Hilton said.

Hawaiian night at County Federal

A hula dancer and Hawaiian slide show are highlights of a "Hawaiian night" program at Madison County Federal Savings & Loan's Granite City office Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 7:30 p.m.

The program is sponsored by the association's Club Advantage to highlight a Hawaiian holiday tour scheduled for early December.

Those interested in Hawaii or the tour are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served. Reservations may be made by calling Jane at Madison County Federal's Granite City office, 876-3800.

Taxpayers' group: TIF program unregulated

The state stumbled into an unregulated program when it agreed to provide state sales tax funds to cities with TIF districts for the purpose of economic development, according to the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois.

"While the state has to provide money to these (TIF) districts, no one at the state level has the authority to evaluate the need for state dollars or the way the money will be spent," the group said in the September edition of "Tax Facts."

"The potential cost of tax increment financing (TIF) districts has resulted in widespread abuses in the formation of districts and in the projects being funded."

The state support program has resulted in a proliferation of non-profit groups intended to promote efficiency and economy in government.

TIF is designed to promote local economic development by providing public improvements and incentives to attract private projects.

Cities are authorized by law to designate a blighted or deteriorating area as a TIF district, work out a redevelopment plan, and then finance improvements with special tax revenues.

Originally, only increases in property tax revenues were available to finance the improvements.

Last year, cities were allowed to form TIF districts so they could receive the increases in state sales taxes from businesses in the districts.

However, the federation said, "the state agency has authority to evaluate any TIF district or its redevelopment plan for need, potential return or substantive compliance with the law."

agencies are only able to certify procedural compliance with the law.

"The only limits on the program are the cutoff date for eligibility, the total spending caps for fiscal years 1987 and 1988, and the provision for prorated payment of claims if the General Assembly's appropriation is less than the total claims," the federation said.

There were only 35 TIF districts before the legislature added the sales tax provision. A total of 73 cities formed 98 new districts last year.

"The result of the selection process is that no one knows what type of program has been created," the federation said. "Do the TIF districts eligible for state aid represent the areas in Illinois most in need of state-assisted economic development?"

"Do they represent the areas with the greatest potential for economic development? Are the specific projects being proposed the most effective and efficient way of achieving economic development? There is absolutely no way to tell."

The Federation said the annual cost to the state of the TIF program could total between $2.4 million and $4.1 million.

The Federation said there are questions about the eligibility of territory in TIF districts. It said there is no state-level evaluation of districts, the state money has no strings attached, and loose definitions of the areas eligible for funds "have resulted in the creation of TIF districts which appear to abuse the spirit, if not the letter, of the law."

The Federation lists Collinsville's district as one in which a $100,000 investment has been combined with another undeveloped area to come up with an eligible TIF district.

The clear intention is to capture sales tax increment revenue in one area and transfer it to another, the federation said.

"The redevelopment activities will take place in the undeveloped area, not the central business district."

Two join police force

VENICE — The City Council agreed to hire one full-time and one part-time police officer effective Oct. 1.

Police Chief Farris Smith said the department has six policemen, and they have been working overtime to compensate for the shortage of three policemen, employed by other police departments.

Second Ward Alderman Silver Franklin said, "The men on the Police Department are overworked and they're tired; these men have not received any time off or vacation leave."

The Venice Police Board of Commissioners met on Sept. 28, and recommended Neal Mize be hired as a full-time patrolman and Oliver Mason as a part-time police officer.

Both officers have completed firearms training and taken a civil service examination required by the state.

Mize was the only person left on the list of applicants, Franklin said.

Two of the former policemen are employed by Pontoon Beach, and the other officer went to Maryland Heights, Mo.

Walk-on plans bus tour to Oktoberfest

GRANITE CITY — Walk-on, a social organization designed to help people return to the mainstream of life and sponsored by Thomas Mortuaries Ltd., is planning a bus trip to the Oktoberfest in Hermann, Mo.

The day-long outing, which is open to the public, will be on Saturday, Oct. 10. The group will leave Nameoki Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road, at 8 a.m. and return at 7 p.m.

The cost is $21 per person and includes round-trip transportation, via an air-conditioned bus, lunch consisting of roast Bavarian-style chicken, spaetzli noodles and red cabbage at the Vintage Restaurant, and a tour of the famous Stone Hill Winery.

Following lunch and the wine tour, the group will have the afternoon to enjoy the sights, sounds and smells of the old German settlement before leaving for home at 4 p.m.

Many craftsmen will be displaying their wares and many of the restored old German homes will be open for touring at a modest cost.

"Walk-on has one full bus for the trip and one waiting list has been started. If there are enough people signed up on the list for home at 4 p.m., a second bus will be scheduled."

Persons wanting to sign up for the waiting list can call Thomas Mortuaries at 876-4321.

Exemptions from jury duty ended

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. James Thompson on Sept. 16 signed a bill removing the last remaining job-related exemption for jury duty.

Newspaper editorial and mechanical employees were the only occupations automatically exempt from being called for jury duty after a law signed last year by Thompson.

More than a dozen other occupations had also been excluded from jury service under earlier laws.

The newspaper employees had stayed in the exempt class because of a strong lobbying effort by the Illinois Press Association. The IPA contended many small weeklies could be crippled if employees were called for jury duty.

The bill signed by the governor includes compromise language sought by the IPA that exempts such as newspapers and other small businesses to obtain individual hardship exemptions.

Relief rolls after the Crash of 1929 grew to 12,700 persons, more than a third of the Quad-City population. Measures were taken to ease the hard times such as taxes being officially "forgotten" and the McKinley Bridge toll rates being slashed.

'Strawberry Fields' linked by store music at strawberry bin

It was a full 20 years ago this summer that I saw my first hippie.

I was in the cereal aisle of the local grocery store, wearing my apron and earning a little pin money for the next school year. A fellow worker rounded the corner at warp speed, grabbed my arm and pushed me toward frozen foods.

There they were—two guys and a real hippie girl. One had longer hair than the next. They picked up an item or two and headed for the checkout. The whole store was there to gawk.

Hippies had never come to our small town before and we were gap-jawed. They shuffled up to the cash register, scrounged up enough change, paid and left.

We let out whoops from under our crewcuts the minute they cleared the door.

"That one guy was pretty smart," my boss said. "He figured it right there in his head that they owed 64 cents apiece."

For some bizarre reason, that scene came to me the other day in the produce aisle of my neighborhood megamarket. I was picking through the loose strawberries when the store music system—let-out—with "Here Comes the Sun," by that old Beatle and hippie, George Harrison.

The hippies of 20 years ago now are supermarket musicians.

What would it take today, I thought, checking the peaches

Martin on the Metro

for ripeness, to make people in the grocery turn around and be speechless?

I was standing by the meat case, still pondering that heavy thought, when "Bridge Over Troubled Water" came wafting across. Another reformed hippie, Paul Simon, has been mainstreamed into elevator music.

That shock back in the Summer of Love had worn off, of course, by about 1969 when I became a full-blown hippie myself. By that time, or a little later, a crewcut would have drawn the same stares that the longhairs did a few years earlier.

Check your family album from the early 1970s. Admit it. Even crusty-old dad was letting his sideburns down a tad and combing what was left of his hair down over his forehead.

Not until seven or eight years ago, when Reaganmania burst upon us, did it become really uncool in the national consciousness to be a longhair.

So now we have Simon and Harrison in the supermarket, naked people on television and six-figure starter homes. What would it take to shock us today as we stand next to the deli's jobsler tank?

How about a good-old fashioned hippie? I haven't seen one in years. For some real nostalgia—maybe a few crew-cutted MBA candidates could rough him up a little.

Go ahead and have your fun, you Young Republicans. You'll get yours someday.

If there is any justice, and pattern to history, your kids will be hippies.

We need you.

Honor the Constitution in classroom

Two centuries ago John Adams said understanding the Constitution would be the civic duty of each generation of Americans.

If Adams were with us today, he probably would enjoy the ceremonies and the fireworks as we celebrate the 200th anniversary of the Constitution, but he would be more interested in what's going on in our classrooms.

There are signs the nation has not lived up to John Adams' advice.

In 1943, of 7,000 college freshmen tested in 36 schools, only 45 percent could name four of the specific freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights. It is probably no better today, four decades later.

Today's warning signs cross generational lines. A recent adult survey showed 59 percent did not know what the Bill of Rights is.

In a 1984 survey of 1,000 graduating high school seniors, two-thirds could not pinpoint the Civil War within 50 years. Half had no idea who Winston Churchill or Joseph Stalin were, and three-fourths could not identify Walt Whitman, Henry David Thoreau or Carl Sandburg.

These numbers have significance. Walter Lippman correctly said a society can be progressive only if it preserves its tradition.

One step would be to strengthen the teaching of history and

By Paul Simon
U.S. Senator

the Constitution in our schools.

Twenty-five years ago, most high school students took one year of world history and one of American history. Today, most study only one year of U.S. history. Other western nations require history coursework each year; for instance, all French students follow a series of history, civics and geography courses in each of the five upper grades.

The number of college history majors in the United States has slipped from 44,663 in 1970 to 17,146 in 1982.

Solid instruction in history is critical to give new generations the broad, defining themes of the American experience.

The tug-of-war over the meaning of the Constitution is as dramatic today as 200 years ago. We should bring some of that drama into the classroom. Henry Steele Commager said, "If history forgets or neglects to tell a story, it will inevitably forfeit much of its appeal and much of its authority as well."

An American history teacher in Akron, Ohio, has his eighth graders study what faces applicants for U.S. citizenship. Afterward, the class appears before a federal judge to take the oath of citizenship. Years later, many students describe the experience as the most meaningful and memorable of their school years.

The best tribute we can pay to the Constitution is to make sure we hand down an understanding of it to future generations.

We can do better.

CD program good for city

The city should start its own community development block grant program.

The first issue is control. Any laborer in Granite City would say that a man would have to be a few bricks short of a load if he gave most of his pay check to somebody else and then sat back while that person determined how the money should be spent.

Since 1984, Granite City's aldermen have relinquished responsibility for CD money to the county. By discontinuing that practice, the city can determine how to use every cent to which it is entitled. It doesn't need an expensive middleman.

Saying money is the second issue. To retain control of Granite City's CD funds, the county has noted that up to 20 percent of the money can be used for administrative costs. In 1984, when the city could have directly received $783,000, a 20 percent administrative fee would have come to $156,600.

Considering such a big chunk would be used by the city to pay the county to pay pencil pushers, it might appear less inviting for the city to administer its own program. But 4th Ward Alderman Sharon Perjak said the city need not pay 20 percent for administrative fees if less will do.

Hire an administrator and a secretary, pay them well and Perjak said it still seems a little better than half of the 20 percent would be adequate. We agree.

If the extra money would be just $50,000 a year, and there's reason to believe a profit of at least that amount, then the city should take the money and use it for housing rehabilitation, for sewer breaks in low-income areas, or for equipment for city firefighters.

Loan money is a consideration. The county operates a revolving loan fund. It loans federal CD money to businesses, the businesses repay the county with interest, and the county can then make more, bigger loans and collect more interest.

The city could operate its own revolving loan fund with CD money. The process would be beneficial, especially in view of the ambitious plan for a downtown shopping center. If developers borrow from the city, the city would financially do well.

Some have argued that the county has given the city most of the money to which the city is entitled. In 1984, according to the county, Granite City received $100,000 more than the city would have received on their own after the administrative expenses were deducted. If so, detractors should drop the specious argument that other communities would be hurt if Granite City left the county program.

Another concern raised by opponents to a city-administered CD program is that providing housing for the poor would require the city to do a great deal of work. The city has a housing authority. The work would be done.

One good reason for the city to start its own CD program should be enough, but Granite City has three: the potential for control, savings, and money to loan.

Granite City should take the money and begin its own CD program.

Hearing needed on barges

The Illinois-American Water Company is right in cautioning the St. Louis Engineer Corps District against hurried approval of barge floating along Chouteau Island. A public hearing, enabling all facts and viewpoints to be heard, should be scheduled by Col. D.M. Wilson, district engineer, and we urge him to do so.

It will be recalled that, a few years ago, a proposal by another company would have permitted barges to park adjacent to the water company's water intakes serving the Quad City area, East St. Louis and Belleville. A hearing was held and the plan was rejected.

Tom Conner, Illinois-American's Southern Division vice president and manager, said this week that "the Marmac Co. is attempting to locate a barge mooring facility upstream of Illinois-American's Chouteau Island pumping station. It would be in the best interest of everyone that this facility be located somewhere other than adjacent to the water pumping station."

"My concerns are, among other things, that a runaway barge could substantially damage the water company's facilities, including their power transformers located immediately upstream of the pumping station building. There could also be problems with spills from a barging facility that would, in a matter of minutes, reach the Chouteau Island intakes."

Extra party alive and well

Solidarity—in Illinois, not Poland—will be an albatross around the neck of the Democratic Party for a while longer, draining away some of the votes. Fortunately, Gov. James Thompson has given Democrats "half a loaf" by approving corrective legislation, with changes.

Democrats will be able to name county reapportionment committees and polling place judges to represent them. This was achieved by averaging results of the last three gubernatorial elections, instead of just the last one, in determining "leading parties."

Adlai Stevenson created the new party when he ran for governor in 1986. It will remain a factor until it fails to capture 5 percent or more of the votes in a future election.

Letters

Public's utility views important

To the editor:

As most of you already know, nothing has changed (except the weather) regarding the high Illinois Power utilities rates.

Many of you think meetings are a waste of time because you feel you were beaten from the start, and so you stay home in front of the TV.

Please think about it this way: If you think you're beaten, you are; if you dare not, you don't.

Perhaps I am living an illusion but I refuse to believe that we don't count.

that what we think or feel regarding this increase has no real value.

This is like giving in to the idea that only others have value, that only they have the right to express their thoughts and ideas, or that others have the right to impose their beliefs or costs upon us. They count, but we don't.

It's only when we accept this spiritless idea that they certainly will control us.

Please try hard to come to meetings concerning this matter.

Med center's care commended

To the editor:

I am writing in behalf of my mother, Mrs. Bernice Gergen, and the family of Zene D. Gergen. My Dad was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where his condition was diagnosed as terminal cancer.

It was a sad and sorrowful time for us but I cannot say enough about the extremely wonderful care and concern provided to my Dad and members of the family by the staff of the 5th Floor Oncology Unit, and the 3rd Floor Skilled Care Nursing Unit.

The hospital staff treated us with care and dignity and tried to make us as comfortable as possible during this most difficult time.

The people of Granite City and the surrounding areas are fortunate to have a medical center that regards its patients as part of the community family and treats the patients accordingly. I would not hesitate to recommend St. Elizabeth Medical Center to anyone. I wish that time and space permitted me to list all of the wonderful people who showed genuine care for us; we will always remember you, and God will surely bless you.

Chlorofluorocarbons a phobia

To the editor:

There are many recurring oddities in the nation's capital, but none stranger than the news media's obsessive urge to report nonsense about whoever occupies the office of the Secretary of the Interior.

You may recall the national furor that ensued when former Interior Secretary James Watt allegedly "banned" the Beach Boys from the Mall during a Fourth of July celebration.

Watt did not ban the Beach Boys or anyone else. The famous rock group was already committed to play somewhere else that day, so Watt chose Wayne Newton to perform in its place.

More recently, the present secretary, Donald Hodel, was subjected to the same treatment. It was widely reported in the news media that Hodel's proposed solution to the problem of ozone depletion in the stratosphere was to make everyone wear sunglasses and hats.

It was a funny story that fostered many hilarious commentaries and cartoons. The only problem was that Hodel never made any such statement.

One can only wonder why otherwise competent, responsible news reporters feel obliged to report such nonsense to the American people. Perhaps in this case it was because the real story was so complex and confusing.

The controversy stemmed from testimony Hodel gave Congress regarding the potential effect of chlorofluorocarbon emissions on stratospheric ozone and the proper role of our government in regulating such emissions.

The basic problem is that it will avail us little for the United States to ban chlorofluorocarbon emissions unilaterally if other nations do not do the same.

That would serve only to take business—and jobs—away from Americans and hand them over to foreign competitors, with zero benefit to the environment.

There are some in Congress, under pressure from environmental groups, who want to impose just such a unilateral ban on this country.

Hodel contended in his testimony that this issue requires more thought and discussion.

Also, he asserted strongly that the president must have latitude to negotiate mutual reductions of chlorofluorocarbon emissions among all of the major producers in the world.

Hodel's position is perfectly reasonable and deserves congressional support. Nonsense stories about sunglasses and hats serve only to muddy up the issue and create confusion.

Cat had plenty to tell writer

I was not ready for my friend, Fred, to die. I know; inevitably old friends die. But 1967 had already cost me Whit and Mike and now Fred and, yes, I was feeling sorry for myself.

Every fallen friend is a galling reminder of our own mortality, and recently I've been so uncomfortable preoccupied with the departed that contemporaries yet living must surely have found me to be less than a pleasant companion.

This relates to that Ozarks farm, so much of our last week the family has been there.

On Reveille Ranch we have many cats; more than a dozen barn cats and one pampered house pet.

We buried one of the barn cats Saturday. Bert had been snake-bit, apparently. Despite our best efforts it was an uncomfortable demise.

Later in the afternoon I'm alone in the hammock between two spreading oak trees, contemplating yet another loss.

Sad and sullen, I'm ignoring the autumn magnificence all around me—the white-fenced yard and the fields beyond sloping away to the Mississippi River. I'm scratching one ankle with the inside of the other foot when I'm startled by a sudden "thump." Something bigger than the big oak acorns had landed on my chest. It was the barn cat we call "Smoky."

Entirely uninvited she'd jumped from the lawn into the hammock, onto my chest, and was standing there, her face looking squarely into mine, as if to say, "Hey, Mister Harvey, I'm still here!"

Maybe I'm making too much of Smoky's sudden, timely intrusion and the remembrance I thought I read in her eyes. No matter.

As I spoke softly and petted her gently she snuggled down, her warm stomach against my own, and, purring, went to sleep.

From our hilltop in the Ozarks I have returned now to the city, but I remain properly shamed by Smoky's seeming admonition: "Hey, Mister Harvey, I'm still here!"

For now I must remember to remember with keener awareness the beautiful family and abundance of friends, who are still here.

GCHS parking lots: How do they look?

This summer, the parking lots and roads around Coolidge Junior High School and Granite City High School were expanded and resurfaced. Three Granite City residents were asked what they think about the improvements now that they are nearly completed.

Linda Cain, Granite City

"It was needed for sure. It was a long time coming. There's a lot more kids driving than when I was in school. I don't know where they're parking."

Frank Kraus, Granite City

"I think the improvement in the parking lots out there is the greatest thing that's happened in this school system. It's something that's been needed for a long time."

Alex Toth, Granite City

"I think it's a big improvement. It keeps the school cleaner because the kids aren't tracking in so much mud and gravel on their shoes."

City attorney should follow council

To the editor:

In the Thursday Press-Record, Mayor Cruse stated that "the aldermen hadn't done their job," in reference to the apartments at 27th and Adams. That statement is not true. If the "executives" had done their jobs, it wouldn't have been necessary to contact our aldermen. Until the aldermen became involved, the issue was being swept under the table.

Don't demean the role of our aldermen. For once we have two aldermen who are working for the residents while seeking to have our city ordinances enforced.

We elected our aldermen to use their voice for us before the City Council. When the appointed executives don't enforce the ordinances, who else can we turn to?

Why is the city so afraid of a lawsuit by Mr. White? He is the one who some say is in violation of the law. Alloys are not to be used as an entrance and exit to the apartments' parking area, but tenants don't have any other means of entrance or exit.

The elevation of the apartments is such that the water drains into the alley and straight into my yard. The open trash dumpster is located right outside my kitchen window. Would you like to live with these problems everyday?

I think Mr. Hopkins is a little mixed-up about who is "usurping executive authority."

Part of his job is to perform legal duties as required by the mayor or City Council. If he doesn't want to carry out council orders, he might find private practice more to his liking. That way he can pick and choose his cases.

It's time for more residents to get involved in the city government. The Plan Commission is appointed, the Board of Appeals is appointed, and the city attorneys are appointed, so the "executives" have most of the authority.

The Plan Commission wants to change minimum area requirements. If they succeed, you may find a business invading your neighborhood.

Readers, don't wait until there's a problem in your backyard or the lack of enforcement of ordinances affects you personally. Get involved now. Attend Plan Commission meetings, Board of Appeal meetings and Council meetings. See for yourself some of the problems of Granite City.

Fields not captive of special interests

To the editor:

How sad it is that a candidate for Congress such as Mick Henkhaus has to drop out of the race because of lack of funds.

What is most disturbing is that the candidates who do have money may not be the best qualified persons for the job.

Political action committees and special interest groups which give money try to control the candidates' views on the issues. These views are not necessarily the views of the people.

We, the people, need to listen to what the candidates are saying and doing and not whether they can raise enough money for a television ad. Whether one candidate has more money than the other should not be the deciding issue in this race.

In my opinion, Pete Fields who is also running for the Democratic nomination to Congress for this district, is highly qualified to fill that office.

He has done a magnificent job as county auditor of Madison County and his operation of that office has played a large part in keeping Madison County financially sound and in the black.

I'm going to vote for Pete Fields because he is highly qualified and also because he will not be beholden to any special interest groups.

Who will Jerry Costello be working for if he is elected to Congress? Will he be working for you citizens or the people who have put up his campaign chest that has now reached $550,000?

Need for kish control clear cut in city

To the editor:

I read the front page article in the Thursday, Sept. 3 Press-Record, "Resident Fed Up With Kish," with both amusement and frustrated anger.

I feel sorry for Mr. Forsy and his neighbors who needlessly suffer the horrible nuisance of pollution fallout. People today complain of acid rain. In Granite City we live constantly with "acid air."

I know this observation does not please those people who believe crocodile tears are the cost of pollution control. This is not surprising in light of the not-so-veiled threats of job cuts often referred to upon the mention of air pollution control.

To these frightened people, talk of pollution control becomes even more frightening in today's economy, when American industry has trouble keeping up with foreign industry.

Real pollution control, however, should mean more jobs not less. Moreover, the loss of clean air to breathe or even see through, dirty homes and cars, and putrid smell has probably cost Granite City's economy much more than it has benefited by profits. A major reason businesses fail to locate here is the dirty air and dirty town.

Moreover, the effect of dirty air on your health is a matter beyond the economic balance sheet because your health is truly your most important asset.

It's with even more amusement that I read the statements from the local EPA, that is, the Emissions Protection Agency.

The EPA's local air pollution engineer wants us to believe that "kish" cannot hurt us because the particles are too large to breathe. This self-serving statement (yes, self-serving because the EPA wants an excuse for not doing its job) is patently ridiculous.

First, it is childish to assert, or believe, that there are not kish particles smaller than those which experts tell us today are 90 percent rejected by a healthy respiratory system. What about the 10 percent that the lungs do not reject? Second, particles larger than five microns can and do make it into your body.

Third, unhealthy lungs are not as good at filtering out particles in the air, so more of them can be dissolved and absorbed into the body of those persons with even "minor respiratory" problems.

Fourth, the air in Granite City is most likely the major cause of the statistically known and documented higher respiratory illnesses and diseases in our city and county, including the deadly and horrible lung cancer and emphysema.

One last point. Those smaller invisible particles travel farther in the air currents. The ones that you cannot see, that "more easily settle and absorb into your lungs, and which can cause respiratory problems, are the ones you breathe."

It is time we Granite Citizens awaken, rise up, and force the politicians, local, state and federal, to maintain a strong EPA, one that truly enforces the law, not one that coddles air polluters who literally rob you of your clean, healthy air.

Congress misuses 'power of purse'

To the editor:

Our Constitution, 200 years old, grants a number of powers to Congress. None is more fundamental than the power of the purse, the power to appropriate the public's money in order to provide "for the common defense and general welfare."

The Constitution is clear: "No money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law." In other words, every last dollar spent by the government must be voted by Congress.

The anniversary of the Constitution and the approach of a new fiscal year, on Oct. 1, cause me to ask how Congress is measuring up to the power granted by the Constitution.

The answer must be that Congress is exercising the power of the purse with little wisdom or sense of responsibility. The federal government will begin a new fiscal year, Congress, which convened on Jan. 6, has not passed a single one of the 13 regular appropriations bills required to operate the government — not one.

The budget deficit for the new fiscal year won't be $108 billion, the level Congress promised to achieve in the Gramm-Rudman law. The deficit will exceed $150 billion. Nor will the funds to operate the government be appropriated by the regular bills, duly considered.

Instead, all appropriations will be made under one huge spending grab bag called a "continuing resolution."

In an air of manufactured crisis, Congress will present to the President an "emergency" choice never imagined by the framers of the Constitution.

The choice will be to sign the continuing resolution, regardless of its details and regardless of how much it is to be spent, and thus accept an irresponsible budget deficit, or shut down the government.

This is not sound government. It is not what the framers of the Constitution intended when they granted to Congress the power of your purse.

To measure up to the power granted by the Constitution, Congress must be willing to make difficult decisions to control spending in every area.

My position is that controlling spending is the key to achieving a balanced budget.

I support the Gramm-Rudman budget targets. I also advocate a balanced budget amendment to require Congress to produce balanced budgets and to live within the people's means.

Frozen Fox stage to host famous duo

By Deborah Reinhardt
Staff affiliate

If Broadway babies can roller skate on stage in the extravaganza "Starlight Express," does ice skating at the Fox Theater sound so bizarre?

Tai Babilonia and Randy Gardner don't think so.

They will join Olympic gold medalist Robin Cousins in Festival on Ice, a lavish skating production that brings along its own rink to theaters where ice otherwise would not be found. The national tour stops Oct. 8-11 at The Fox.

Performing in theaters is not new for this skating duo. Babilonia and Gardner have completed three Festival on Ice tours.

"The concept started in January '83," Gardner said. "It seems to be working quite well. We're pulling in more sophisticated audiences."

Festival on Ice last appeared in St. Louis in 1981 at the Muny. Gardner said he's eager to bring the show to the smaller stage at The Fox.

"It's fun to come back to St. Louis," he said. "I had been there a few years ago to see a different show."

Babilonia and Gardner have toured the world and won awards as amateur ice skaters before turning professional in 1980. They were guest stars in the Ice Capades at the Sports Arena in Los Angeles, their home town. The Ice Capades tour was demanding. But Babilonia said current schedules do not involve stringing weeks together at a time. This allows more time to be home with family—in Babilonia's case, two cats.

Babilonia and Gardner, a striking couple on the ice, are best friends when not performing. They have worked together for 19 years, an amazing fact considering she is just 28 and he is 29.

"It's like working with your best friend every day," Gardner said. "It's a strong friendship that enables us to perform together."

While Babilonia and Gardner love skating professionally, they are not confining their energies and talents to the ice. Both are studying acting. Babilonia just started acting classes this summer upon encouragement from her boyfriend. She's glad that she listened.

"I tried it before but never took the time to take proper classes," Babilonia said. "I love it. It's almost like therapy. It's a whole new release."

Gardner also studies drama and has attended the University of Southern California.

Will Hollywood make a film starring Babilonia and Gardner? Maybe. Maybe not. But film aside, the duo's immediate goal is finishing the Festival on Ice tour, which will run through May 1988. And Babilonia and Gardner are having a lot of fun putting on the professional show.

"We're judged by different kinds of audience," Babilonia said, comparing amateur and professional skating. "The pressures are different now—I think it's even harder. We have a lot more creativity. I enjoy this much more than competing. It's a lot of fun and you're getting paid for something you love."

The purpose of the event is to showcase local talent, make art available to more people, heighten public awareness of art programs and increase support of the arts in St. Louis.

Many of this year's 74 events have been created for the festival. During a recent conference at Powell Symphony Hall, Johnson Spink, general chairman of the festival, said the event has been criticized for a lack of invited and asked to bring a friend. Reservations for the luncheon may be made that morning.

Women's group to meet

A meeting of the International Women's Organization will be held at 7:30 tonight, Oct. 1, in the community room of the First Federal Savings and Loan, 300 S. Louis St., Edwardsville. The public is invited. The Kastel family of Molkorn, Sweden will present the program.

Arts festival targets original events

The festival also features special events for the young, including The Best of Young St. Louis Talent, an Oct. 10 show at Westport Playhouse. Sponsored by Southwestern Bell Telephone, the performance will be hosted by television star Patrick Duffy and feature young comedians, dancers, actors, musicians and vocalists.

Spink said corporate sponsorship this year enables the festival to operate in the black. The council budgeted money for the festival's 10th year, but the festival committee doesn't want to resort to using those funds.

Last year, the arts and education council absorbed the festival's expenses. Spink would not disclose the amount of money given to the festival by the council last year, saying that all that money was from private donations.

"Stars Over St. Louis," an entertainment gala at the American Theater that was part of the 1986 festival, will not be repeated this year, Spink said.

"The gala was an artistic success but the cost exceeded the money we took in," he said. "We decided against the gala until we figured out how to do it on an break-even basis."

Long NBC strike affects baseball TV coverage

By William Scott Simon
Staff affiliate

The strike by 2,500 NBC-TV employees nationwide, members of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians, may never be settled.

When negotiations became stale, the three weeks ago, Catholic Archbishop Terrence Cook of New York interceded to bring network and union negotiators together. But after a couple of meetings, the talks broke off.

Even though the strike does not involve the Cardinals' 51 employees, its effects were evident in St. Louis when the baseball Cardinals played the Atlanta Braves on Aug. 29, a game that was nationally televised by NBC.

NABET sent members from Chicago to walk a picket line outside Busch Stadium. NBC-TV responded by hiring security personnel from Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau to guard the network's equipment parked outside the stadium, and to guard the announcers in the press box broadcast booth.

The network replaced the strikers with temporary workers sent from New York.

One of the strikers, who wished to remain anonymous, said the union membership felt NBC-TV was attempting to disband the union by hiring strikers as individuals.

KPLR-TV Channel 11 engineers and technicians last week agreed to a new contract, ending a 3-month-old strike, and were expected to return to work. Steve Meyers, Local 4 business manager of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said the new agreement will expire in December 1990.

Meyers said workers will not have to take a pay cut, but now will work a five-day week rather than the four-day week under the old agreement. The engineers also will be working 37½ hours each week, up from 35 hours.

PEOPLE NOTES: Phil Plear, a morning sports anchor on KWMU-FM (90.7) has left to become an assistant sports producer at KSDR-TV (Channel 5).

Nan Siemer, a weekend assignment editor at KFTV-TV (Channel 2), left television to return to radio, as the news director at KFRU-AM Columbia, Mo. Some of her reports will be heard on KMOX-AM (1120).

BOO-BOOS: It's been a couple of weeks, so I've forgotten the station that it but commercials for competing appliance businesses were run back to back. Tipton and Best Buy stores were running big promotions at the same time—Tipton's at the same time, followed by the Best Buy ad.

Such an occurrence is quite rare, but not excusable for any station to commit.

Several months ago, a similar, but less serious event occurred on KMOX during the "Grant Horton Show."

Representatives of the Regional Commerce and Growth Association appeared on the program announcing the "I'm Sold on St. Louis" promotional campaign that is running on St. Louis radio and television stations. The RCGA's appearance was not a commercial advertisement.

Immediately following the segment, a paid commercial promoting summer events in Memphis was aired.

Sometimes, unintentional gaffes like this one can bring a laugh, but hopefully with a sense of humor.

A smorgasbord of art and entertainment will be offered during this year's St. Louis Arts Festival, and organizers hope area residents come to the table to sample everything.

The festival runs Oct. 9-25. This is the third festival sponsored by the Arts and Education Council of Greater St. Louis. The purpose of the event is to showcase local talent, make art available to more people, heighten public awareness of art programs and increase support of the arts in St. Louis.

Many of this year's 74 events have been created for the festival. During a recent conference at Powell Symphony Hall, Johnson Spink, general chairman of the festival, said the event has been criticized for a lack of invited and asked to bring a friend. Reservations for the luncheon may be made that morning.

A Maple Leaf quilt will be given away at the museum Nov. 15. It was pieced and donated by Mrs. Kurt Merz and quilted by the Tri-Township Library group.

Methodist women to meet

The annual meeting of United Methodist Women of the Southern Illinois Conference will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 3, at the Union United Methodist Church in Belleville. Bishop Woodie W. White will be speaker and Andris Salter, from the women's division, will install new officers.

Marching Warriors to have busy year

GRANITE CITY — The Marching Warrior Band of Granite City High School started its marching season by traveling to Murphysboro to participate in the Murphysboro Apple Festival.

While there, the band participated in parade and field competitions, bringing home five awards.

In the parade competition, the Marching Warriors placed second, and received awards for best drum majors and auxiliaries.

The Marching Warriors placed third in the field competition. The group was given the award for reserve champion overall band.

On Oct. 3, the band will travel to Washington, Mo., to compete in parade and field judging.

The band will compete at a total of four contests this fall, all held on Saturdays. The public is invited to travel to any competition events in which the band is involved.

The group also performs at all home football games, providing a halftime show. The percussion section performs at every home soccer game. The band also provides pre-game and halftime shows at all home basketball games.

The band provides musical background for the homecoming play, May carousal, the spring musical and graduation, as well as performing four concerts throughout the year.

In the spring, the band participates in the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) solo/ensemble and band contests. The band also marches in various parades during the year including the Labor Day, homecoming, Shrine and Velled Prophet parades.

On Sept. 15, the Marching Warrior Band Parents Association hosted a parent show/potluck dinner. The band members performed their halftime/field competition show for the first time for parents and guests.

Mandatory practice was held Aug. 10-21 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. so the band would be ready for the halftime field show on Sept. 18 and for the Murphysboro competition.

The Marching Warriors are now sponsoring a fund drive through Oct. 23 featuring a side of beef, a 19-inch color television and a black and red sash.

Throughout the year, the band will hold fund drives to raise money for the band. The band will perform at the Lincolnburg, Tenn., where it will compete with schools from across the U.S. in parade, field, concert and jazz competitions.

Program climaxes Constitution tribute at Prather Elementary

GRANITE CITY — A month of activities celebrating the birthday of the U.S. Constitution culminated in a special assembly at Prather Elementary School on Sept. 16.

Featured were award presentations to classes and students, songs, and a special color guard from the St. Louis Area Support Center (former Army Depot).

American Legion representative Barbara Weathers presented American flags to winners of Prather's U.S. Constitution poster and essay contest.

PTA President Cheryl Birdsong presented awards to winners of the Constitution door decoration contest. Susan Doty's first grade class, Diana Hartman's third grade class and Roy Seamen's fifth grade class each received $10 from the PTA for their winning entries.

Music teacher Jennifer Totten led students in a patriotic song fest. The songs were memorized by students during their regular music classes.

"It was very special to hear the entire student body sing them together," Totten said.

Ceremonies began with a color guard from the depot, led by Sgt. 1st Class Robert Pearson.

Winners of the essay and poster contest are: Katie Smith, Jason Bryant, Emily Tait, Billy White, Gracie Jones, Jessica Rose, Krista Sepler, Aaron Lindsey, Ricky Cox, Kristina Chastain, Andrea Davis, Devaughn Jones, Kelli Ward, Gary Huftuller, Lee Thomas, Jennifer VanHous, Harry Brandon, Casey Robbins, Lori Hildreth, Jamie Partney, Jennifer Elvers, Jan Theriot, Randy Gardner, Melissa Dix, Jeff Havi-con, Jennifer Eason, Tim Barton, Jimmy Chism, Jesse Pig, Jamie Vance, Michael Pearson, Rebecca Helton, Rita Boas, Teresa Eggert, John Vene, Alicia Coats and Jennifer Pearson.

The program and all other Prather activities celebrating the Bicentennial of the Constitution were coordinated by Dorothy Bailey, a fourth grade teacher at the school.

BAC bill signing draws applause

State Sen. Sam Vadabalene, D-Edwardsville, has applauded the governor's action on House Bill 143, which can benefit Belleville Area College by leading to equal representation on the Board of Trustees for various areas of the district.

Vadabalene said the legislation permits the Board of Trustees of its own, or upon the petition of 2,000 registered voters in the district, to order a referendum to decide if the board should be elected by subdistricts.

If voters approve the referendum, the State Board of Elections will divide the community college district into seven subdistricts with one trustee elected from each.

"This bill was a tough one," Vadabalene said. "When it was introduced in the House, the community colleges were against the bill because, as introduced, it applied to the entire state except for community colleges in Cook County and East St. Louis."

"However, when the bill got to the Senate, we worked with the colleges and amended the bill to limit it to Belleville Area College, which had the problem."

Vadabalene said, "In the bill's original form, the old saying, 'If it ain't broke, don't fix it,' would have applied. Belleville's problem is unique. The rest of the state did not need the legislation."

Advice to candidates: Walk, don't run

A few weeks ago a man demonstrated "walking on water" from Venice to St. Louis, utilizing kayak-shaped shoes (also called "foot-floats") as he crossed the Mississippi River standing up.

A similar method was used Sept. 16 by an American who walked across the English Channel, from Dover to the coast of France.

All this walking brings to mind the political campaign method that was employed successfully by Joe Teasdale of Missouri and Dan Walker of Illinois.

Each walked the length and breadth of their state while greeting voters, and each gained election as governor. It was a gimmick, but it worked.

Neither Walker nor Teasdale had much success once in office, each losing out after one four-year term, but that's another story.

U.S. Sen. Paul Simon may have mixed feelings about the two long-distance walkers.

It was Walker the walker who upset Simon in the Democratic primary election the year Walker ultimately defeated Republican Richard Ogilvie. We doubt that Simon and Walker like each other, to this day.

But some of Teasdale's former supporters are fans of Simon and are expected to help rally voters to support the Illinoisan in the Missouri primary. Among them is Albert Slavov, Public Service Commission chairman during Teasdale's tenure.

U.S. Rep. Richard Gephardt and Simon are two of the half-dozen who are still running for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Gephardt is considered unbeatable in his home state of Missouri, so why would Simon

"Invade" the territory? Because it's a 50-state battle for the nomination, not to mention Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C.

If Simon can pick up a few favorable delegates in Missouri, they will add to his nationwide total.

Simon also would like to win Illinois delegates, of course, but he is not this state's only "favorite son." The Rev. Jesse Jackson is leading nationwide Democratic preference polls at present, and has been endorsed for president by Mayor Harold Washington of Chicago.

Because this is a column on issues and occurrences of interest in the Metro East region, we try to keep an eye on happenings throughout Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties. Much of the news is happy, but far too many traffic tragedies occur, often victimizing young children.

In an auto accident that injured four Granite Cityans on Saturday in Alton, fatal injuries were suffered by a seven-year-old Alton boy who had been walking his bicycle along a sidewalk.

A Waterloo girl, six years old, was killed by an auto Sept. 14 as she crossed the street at a school bus stop.

Children make news in many ways, and there were countless educational activities linked to the 200th anniversary of the signing of the U.S. Constitution

On Sept. 20 in Mascoutah, 142 adults and 92 youngsters assembled in a park for the 14th annual foreign adoption picnic sponsored by Lutheran Child and Family Services. Serving 33 counties, with its headquarters in Belleville, LCFS places Korean orphans, primarily, but also has aided adoptions of children from Thailand, India and South America.

Festivities included a puppet show arranged by Hlap and Sandy Schoeber of Granite City.

Many Metro East residents also try to make life better for children by helping out at the annual Variety Club telethon. The next one is set for March 5-6 at the Adam's Mark Hotel.

Comedian Jerry Lewis hosts the annual Labor Day telethon to fight muscular dystrophy, and Sammy Davis Jr. is among the stars who perform for "Jerry's Kids" at the marathon show staged in Las Vegas.

The big news about the March fund-raiser in St. Louis, led by Sammy Davis Jr., is that his 1988 guests will include Jerry Lewis.

Although the most recent Lewis and Davis drives produced contrasting totals, $39 million and $2 million, no doubt the causes are about equally worthy.

The Variety Club helps children's charities, including programs for playgrounds and pediatric equipment, and buying vans that take youngsters to medical and dental appointments, pick them up for school and transport them on outings.

Half of the Variety Club money is raised through the "Cash for Kids" program, which will be part of a future issue of among other publications, the Granite City Journal.

Public Health offers day-care safety tips

With more than 130,000 infants and pre-schoolers spending time in day-care centers throughout the state, the Illinois Department of Public Health has issued some tips to help cut the risk of transmitting illness.

According to Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, director, day-care personnel and parents should teach children to wash their hands frequently and should also be conscientious in washing their own hands thoroughly and often.

Illnesses are often transmitted by accidental exposure to the feces always possible when diapers are present. Parents can also help prevent the spread of illnesses by keeping children home when symptoms of gastrointestinal illness occur.

2 disabled from state picked for hall of fame
Springfield resident Susan S. Suter, director of the Department of Rehabilitation Services, and Champaign resident Joseph R. Larsen, professor and director of the University of Illinois' Division of Rehabilitation Education Services, are among five selected nationwide to be inducted into the National Hall of Fame for Persons with Disabilities.

The Hall of Fame for Persons with Disabilities, a non-profit organization based in Columbus, Ohio, was founded in 1981 to honor outstanding Americans who are disabled for their personal accomplishments and contributions to humanity. Inductees are selected from a field of nominees which includes people with physical or mental disabilities.

Cities get motor tax

The Illinois Department of Transportation distributed $37,738 in motor fuel tax funds to Granite City during August. Madison received $2,322; Venice, $5,463; and the county, $59,358. The taxes are allocated monthly for street and highway repairs. The money is distributed on the basis of population.

'Rock 'n Romance' sends tune to teens

More than 165 radio stations in Illinois including WISF-FM in Edwardsville and WMMY-FM in Belleville, are encouraging aspiring teen songwriters to express their talents while addressing a serious social issue through the "Parents Too Soon Rock" Rock 'n Romance Song-Writing Contest, Volume II.

The month-long contest asks those aged 12 to 18 to write the words to a song or rap about the consequences of teen sexuality. Semifinalists and finalists will perform their entries in Springfield and Chicago. The winning song or rap will be professionally recorded.

To obtain entry forms, which must be postmarked by midnight Oct. 1, they may call 1-800-4-CALL-US. Entry forms are also being distributed at 7-Eleven stores, participating radio stations and local Parents Too Soon meetings.

Redbird Express extended

The Redbird Express bus service will be extended to cover the National League playoffs and baseball World Series, if needed, and the city's downtown Levee Line shuttle will remain in operation until Jan. 4.

But Bi-State approval of a new contract agreement with Bi-State drivers, represented by Transit Union Local 788, will have to wait until the board's next meeting Oct. 14.

The two service extensions were authorized last week by Raleigh D'Adamo, executive director of the Bi-State Development Agency. D'Adamo used his administrative authority to act on the measures following a Sept. 18 meeting at which the Bi-State Agency board failed to gain a quorum, and therefore could not vote on the service extensions, said Tom Sturgess, Bi-State director of communications.

The board's transit committee recommended extension of the express because it has shown an 86 percent increase in passenger service over the past year. The board also had been asked by downtown merchants to extend the Levee Line's operation past its original Oct. 4 deadline and possibly year-around.

The union contract, approved Sept. 17 by union members, would allow about a 6 percent increase in pay for drivers and mechanics over the next three years.

Mills' OT goal wins SWC title

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — There are probably several different answers you would get if you asked many people what a "typical" Granite City-Collinsville game was like.

But Tuesday's game at the Gauntlett would seem to match at least one of those descriptions. Two proud teams went at each other with all of their strength for not 90, but 100 minutes. It was left to Warrior senior co-captain Kirk Mills to decide matters with a header as the Kahoks keeper Dustin Grove in the first overtime for a 2-1 Granite City victory.

The Warriors clinched the Southwestern Conference title outright with the win. They are 6-0 in conference play, while every other team has at least two losses and a tie. The Warriors won their ninth in a row and are 10-1 overall. The Kahoks fell to 2-2-1 in the conference and 4-3-2 overall.

"It was pretty hectic," said Warrior coach Gene Baker. "I thought we had most of the quality shots in the game and if we had finished them off we could have won a little easier."

It was another very physical game as the Kahoks collected 33 fouls including seven yellow cards for hard fouls. The Warriors had 27 fouls, but there were a lot of misrepresentation in the fouls. I'm not saying it was bad for us tonight. But I don't think the number of fouls really means anything.

Fouls didn't mean anything on the winning goal, but the skill of Troy Adamitis meant everything. The Warriors' hustling sophomore forward controlled the ball nicely in the corner to the right of Grove and shielded the ball away from defenders.

Then he spun and, flipped the ball to Mills. Mills came down the middle and headed the ball past Grove into the left corner 2:03 into overtime for the winner.

"It was a great play by Adamitis," Stranz said. "He just had a tremendous game. Granite has good individuals who go to the ball very well."

The Warriors had a goal taken away late in regulation play when Dan Wilson scored off a free kick from the side. The Warriors were ruled offside on the play.

"I think the films will show it," Stranz said. "It was the worst team effort of the season. I just want to forget about it."

This was not the same Lady Kahok team that had given Southwest Conference favorite Belleville West a run for its money before losing.

This also was not the same team that had beaten a good Belleville Alhoff team.

"We weren't moving our feet," Jeffries said. "In this game, you have to be able to do it. Give Granite credit, though."

was a good goal," Baker said. "They had a man on the inside which put our players inside."

The Warriors had the better of the play for a majority of the night, but they fell behind when they were seemingly at their best in the early part of the game. At 30:31, Joe Reinger let go a beautiful free kick from 25 yards out over the Warrior wall into the top left corner behind Matt Krekovich. It was the first goal Granite City had allowed at home all year and the first they had allowed since Reinger had scored against them on Sept. 10. It was Reinger's ninth of the year.

"We were very tentative at first," Stranz said. "We didn't go to the ball. Granite City sure goes to the ball well, so when we didn't they were in control."

The Warriors came right back when Paul Smith earned a yellow card for grabbing Scott Stone by the shirt. On the free kick, Brett Broadwater's blast hit the Kahok wall. But Broadwater followed up and slid the rebound past Grove at 34:40. Broadwater got a penalty kick 87 seconds later but hit the outside of the post.

"It helped that it came right near the end of the quarter," Baker said. "Maybe it didn't give us time to get fired up. The Warriors had most of the good chances in the second half and Chris Mader had to stop John Van Buskirk's header with Grove out of position in the third quarter. Reinger had another chance on a free kick, but Krekovich deflected it out."

The cards began stacking up against the Kahoks in the fourth quarter, but the Warriors couldn't take advantage.

"I didn't think a lot of those fouls were worthy of cards," Stranz said.

The Kahoks never had a real good chance to score overtime with Reinger on the bench.

"He cramped up real bad and couldn't go," Stranz said. "That hurt us. He had played a very good game."

"Krekovich was exceptional again and our defenders were outstanding again," Baker said. Jeff Grote is the key to the team at the sweeper position.

"We were breaking away at the end, but it was all fouls. We would get loose and then down we go."

Adamitis had the best chances in the final minutes on a pair of semi-breaks, but his shots went wide.

St. Louis teams highlight tournament

The seventh annual Granite City Soccer Tournament of Champions, sponsored by Pepsi-Cola, will open Oct. 5.

The Warriors will be joined by 15 schools from St. Louis in the six-day event which is one of the premier high school soccer tournaments in the country.

The tournament format is similar to World Cup structure. The 16 teams are divided into four groups of four teams each. Each team plays the other three teams in its group once, with the winner of each group advancing to a "final four" on Saturday, Oct. 10.

The Gauntlett, and the freshman field between the main field and the high school will endure 28 games — "frase-days" among teams that have amassed countless titles throughout the years.

In the previous six years, no team has been able to defend its title and no team has won it more than once. The winners, in chronological order, have been Vianey, McCluer North, Granite City, Rosary, DeSmet and St. Louis V. High. All six former champions are on hand again. Although powerhouse teams from Chicago and Indiana have had little success.

The Warriors are in Group D along with McCluer North, Chaminade and Parkway North. They will play 8:30 p.m. games on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Groupings

Group A: Hazelwood Central, Kennedy, St. Louis U. High and Vianey.

Group B: CBC, Parkway West, Rosary and Hazelwood East.

Group C: DeSmet, Oakville, Hazelwood West and Aquinas Mercy.

Group D: McCluer North, Granite City, Chaminade and Parkway North.

The Warriors have advanced to the final four every year except one.

College scouts from around the region annually make the trip to Granite City to see the finest talent in the area. All of the St. Louis area's top-10 teams will be in the tournament, and all of the teams participating are in the top-20.

Warrior coach Gene Baker sees CBC as a possible favorite, although SLUH and Vianey look to be very strong. CBC routed SLUH 6-0 last week, however.

In addition to the regular session stand, the GCHS Booster Club will have a barbecue to feed fans throughout the week.

Warrior spikers dominate Lady Kahoks 15-12, 15-4

By Bill Morton

Staff writer

COLLINSVILLE — Lady Kahok volleyball coach Susan Jeffries looked at the scoreboard and shook her head in dismay. The scorebook did not tell a happy story for Jeffries and the Lady Kahoks as they fell to a tough Granite City Warrior team 15-12, 15-4, Tuesday at Fletcher Gym in an important Southwest Conference match.

"I just want to close the book on this night," Jeffries said. "It was the worst team effort of the season. I just want to forget about it."

This was not the same Lady Kahok team that had given Southwest Conference favorite Belleville West a run for its money before losing.

This also was not the same team that had beaten a good Belleville Alhoff team.

"We weren't moving our feet," Jeffries said. "In this game, you have to be able to do it. Give Granite credit, though."

They have a good team."

The loss ended both the Lady Kahok conference mark (2-2) and overall record (5-5), while Granite took over second place in the SWC with a 3-1 record. Overall, the Warriors are now 6-2.

"Collinsville has a good team," Warrior coach Don Deterding said. "We just had too much power for them tonight."

Led by two Wendy Knollman and a pair of double blocks by Tammy LeVault and Beth Earney, the Warriors jumped out to a 6-1 lead in the first game before the Lady Kahoks even knew what "ear" they were.

"We got some good play early," Deterding said. "After that, we just let up for a while."

Dobbie Blumeyer served up three points for the Lady Kahoks before the Warriors answered with three points of their own to jump out to a 15-4 lead.

Theresa Siekmann led a Collinsville comeback with five points that helped cut the Granite lead to 14-12 before an Earney spike ended the first game and gave the Warriors the win.

"We did a good job in coming back," Jeffries said. "We just fell a little short. We showed some determination to get back into the game, but it was too late."

LeVault led the Warriors in the opening game with four spikes and a block, while Earney

Yates: Pray for rain Friday

By Dave Whaley

Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Do you remember last Oct. 4?

If you are a Granite City High School football fan, the date will forever be etched in your memory. A torrential rain on Friday, Oct. 3, left the playing field at Memorial Stadium a little wet by Saturday afternoon. It was just enough to slow down the East St. Louis Flyers, who came to town with a 44-game winning streak.

The real as they say, was history. All Ron Yates wants is a repeat of the weather pattern.

"We're hoping for a monsoon to hit at about 2 p.m. on Friday," Yates said half-jokingly, or maybe less than half-jokingly. "It will be time for everyone to do their rain dance."

Yates remembers well the conditions under which the 1986 Warriors gained national fame by derauling the Flyers 17-14 that overcast afternoon. That game will still be fresh in the minds of everyone concerned when Granite City travels to East St. Louis for a Southwestern Conference game, Kickoff at Parsons Field is scheduled for 4 p.m. on Friday.

The Warriors (22, 1-1 in the SWC) are coming off an exciting 14-7 win over Collinsville on Friday at home. The Flyers (4-0, 1-0 in the SWC) are coming off an East Side special — a 49-0 dismantling of the Belleville West Maroons. The Maroons decked the Warriors 28-0 on Sept. 18, so a comparison of scores would point to a 77-0 game on Friday.

Yates isn't expecting that. "Every person on our team should be able to come out of this game proud of the way they played," he said. "If we do that, we can be competitive. We always go in to a game thinking we can win. They are much more talented than we are in all parts of the game, but if we play with intensity, I like to think anything can happen."

The Flyers are again the state's top Class 6A team and are gunning for their fourth state title in five years. They have a 27-0 win over Soldan, a 38-15 win over DeSmet and the 49-0 win over Belleville West in addition to a forfeit win over Chicago Robeson because of the Chicago teachers' strike.

"They have once again earned the USA Today top 25 poll, a poll they topped before the Warriors struck them down last season."

Of course they are big and talented, and the team speed is awesome with sprinters like Alvin Johnson and Kenny Robinson. Both of them are averaging more than 35 yards per reception.

The Warriors are in the offense is senior Marvin Lampkin with more than 500 yards in three games on the ground.

"The big thing is to stop Lampkin," Yates said. "He was the difference in the playoff game last year (a 20-0 Flyer win at Granite City). Kevin Sutphin put him out of the game with a hit early in the first game, and that helped us."

Junior Vernon Powell is the quarterback replacing Kerwin Price. With runners like Cecil Hawkins, Milton Reed and Eugene Jones helping Lampkin, Powell doesn't throw much, but he has averaged 30 yards per completion with Johnson and Robinson going long distance.

"He shows some poise back there," said Yates, who saw the Flyers' game with Belleville West. "But if we can hold Lampkin under 100 yards, we could be very competitive. They have so much speed that you have to keep them out of the open field."

We have to control them and make them do something different."

And Yates wants to make Bob Shannon's offense do the scoring. When the Flyers defeated the Warriors 60-0 in 1985, five touchdowns were scored on interceptions and kick returns.

"We have shown we can move the ball and score," Yates said. "Dave Tatum had 100 yards rushing against them two years ago and Len Whiteside had 100 in last year's game."

But Whiteside is doubtful again this week with the shoulder injury that kept him out against Collinsville. He leads the team with 225 yards rushing. It will be up to Terry Stanley (181 yards) and Kevin Sutphin (183) to pick up the slack.

"We'll have Brian Dick punting out of bounds and Kory Burton will kick line drive kickoffs to the sidelines to limit them there," Yates said. "And we'll mix the running with some short

Golfers end Tigers' streak

It was a long time coming. The Edwardsville High School golf team hadn't lost a regular-season dual match since before the last time the NFL players went out on strike. That covered 148 matches in a row for Dick Gerber's team.

But the Warriors put an end to that streak at Wood River's Belk Park on Tuesday, clipping the Tigers by two strokes, 156-158.

"It feels good to beat them," said Warrior coach Russ Chappell. "And it was important because it was on the same course where we will have the regional."

Although Derek Trtanj and Mike Wilkinson have been the Warriors' top two shooters this year, it was sophomore Chad Lane who led the way to the historic win over the Tigers. Lane shot a 37 and Scott Moss chipped in with a 39. Trtanj and Wilkinson settled for 40's, the same as Mike McCormick and Mike Edwards.

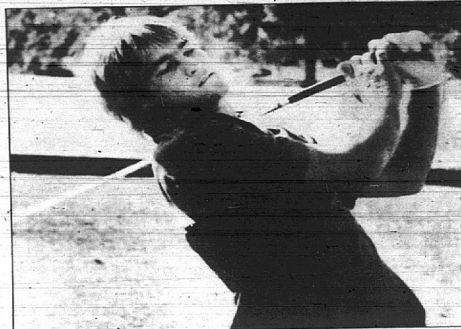

Jay Hepler shot a 38 to lead the Tigers, while Sam Scheibel, Rich Stolze and David Hyten all shot a 40.

"We led them by two strokes with two yet to come in," Chappell said. "They needed a 38 and they didn't get it."

It was just the confidence booster the Warriors (16-3) needed going into the Southwestern Conference meet today at Arlington at noon. Wood River shot a 161 and Roxana had a 173 to round out the afternoon.

Stars trip Meramec
 A goal by forward Tom Bufe lifted Granite City Campus to a 1-0 victory over Meramec in junior college soccer action Wednesday. Bufe's goal came in the game's second overtime at the 100-40 mark.

The win gives the Stars a four-game winning streak and lifted their record to 7-2-1. Scott Clynes got the shutout in goal for the Stars, who will host Florissant Valley on Oct. 6.

Trojans brace for annual war with Tigers

By Gary King
 Correspondent

MADISON — Firing the Madison Trojans up for their annual fracas with Dupu is like holding a bloody piece of meat in front of an angry pit bull.

Over the past four years, Dupu vs. Madison has become a small school prep football's very own St. Louis-Dallas, metro east style.

1983: Dupu 6, Madison 0, 1984: Dupu 6, Madison 2, 1985: Madison 18, Dupu 6, 1986: well, the jury's still out on who won this one.

Technically, Madison lost 16-8. But why a Demarcus Crochrell blocked punt in the end zone that would have given Madison a 14-8 lead was disallowed after the play had occurred remains the things when the two squads butt heads at Dupu's A.C. Daugherty Field on Friday. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

One year later, Smith still feels his squad beat Dupu on that rainy Friday last October.

So don't expect the Trojan coach to exactly play Mr. Nice Guy when the two squads butt heads at Dupu's A.C. Daugherty Field on Friday. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Everything we do from here on in depends on what we do against Dupu on Friday," Smith said. "If we beat them we're in a spot to potentially make the playoffs. But if we lose to them, then we're just fighting to come away with a .500 season."

The Trojans, coming off last week's 15-0 pasting of Breese Central, will carry a 3-1 record into Friday's contest. Dupu currently finds itself in the middle of an unusual position — a rebuilding year. The Tigers are 1-3, facing their first losing season in years and in dire need of some immediate answers.

And a win over Madison would be just what the doctor ordered for head coach Gary Mauser and the young Tigers.

"From what we've seen of Madison, they're a very good team, but they're also very beatable," Mauser said. "They've got good speed, so we'll need to continue improving on defense this week."

Indeed they will. Through their first four games, Dupu has allowed an average of 27 points a game; a statistic made meaningful by the fact that the Trojans have averaged 20 points a game while allowing only 13.

And when you've got Ian Smith, Ricky Ball, Quincy Williams and Stephan Boyd in the same backfield, anything can happen. And it usually does.

Smith, who nursed a tender knee last week against Breese, is expected to return to the Madison backfield Friday. The junior tailback has already amassed 962 yards this season, an average of 11.5 yards a carry, Ball, who carried 27 times for 97 yards against Breese, has chipped up 348 yards.

Williams is 20 for 44 on the year with two of those completions coming on long touchdowns heaves to Boyd.

"We're going to give them a little different look, maybe try passing the ball a little more," Smith said. "I think we can run on them with Ian and Ball both back there."

How successful the offense will need to be against Dupu will depend largely on how the Trojan defense handles the Tigers' Main Men, halfback Derek Tieman and fullback Ron Hunsaker. To date, Tieman has netted 282 yards on the ground while Hunsaker has 216 yards to his credit. Smith's only concern is keeping Tieman tied up.

"He's a good broken-play kind of runner," Smith said. "And we've had our troubles tackling people this year. I just hope he doesn't get out in the open, or it could make for a long night!"

Soccer squad first

JUNIOR VARSITY SOCCER cheerleaders for Granite City High School attended a Dynamic Cheerleaders Association camp July 27-30 at Maryville College in St. Louis. The squad earned ribbons for Outstanding Spirit, Outstanding Cheerleading Skills and Outstanding Jumps, Stunts and Mounts. On the final day of evaluation they earned a Super Squad Ribbon and first place in the junior varsity division. The first place qualifies them to compete in the National Championship competition to be held in Honolulu in December. The girls are, front row from left, Cathy Martin and Kim Blurton; second row from left, Caryn Haddox, Amy Seiler and Tracy Arnold; third row from left, Kathy Chrismer and Michele Snelson.

Baumann arrives late but wins

By Joe Senter
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Ed Baumann won the U.M.P. late model stock car feature at Tri-City Speedway in his brand new race car.

Baumann arrived late and did not get to run any practice laps or heat races and had to start the feature from the very last spot in the 20-car field in his #1R "Pirate" car.

Alan Thomas grabbed the lead at the green flag and led until he got tangled up in a four-car crash which knocked all four cars out of the race. Baumann was on the move and slipped into the lead and went the balance of the race for the win as Joe Ross Sr. finished second, Bill Shaw third, Brian Ater fourth, Jim Herter fifth and Jim Barick sixth. Shaw and Thomas took the heat races.

Lou Thery Jr. was the winner of the modified feature followed by John Hainer, Randy Durbin, Don Cruzen and Mel Bader. They won the heat race.

Mike Seets won the feature event in the sportsman's cars followed by Don Carter, Rick Bayer, Bruce Underbrink, Mike Young and Bob Brown. Mike and Jake Seets won the heat races.

Rick Carter won the street stock car feature event followed by Mike Thunder, John Stanton and Wes Weiman. Carter also won his heat race to give him a clean sweep for the night. Maury Bargetzi and Mark Gansmen took the other heats.

Lisa Mills got the Warriors off on the right foot in the second game with a pair of points after Tonya Aczinowicz had given the Lady Kahoks a 1-0 lead.

After the lead changed hands twice, Granite scored the last 13 points to run away with the second game and the match.

LeVaul and Lisa Kult led the Warriors in the second game, scoring four and three points, respectively.

"We just keep on hitting the ball at them and hope that they make a mistake," Deterding said. "We have got some pretty good players on this team. They were ready for Collinsville tonight."

"Tammy (LeVaul) hit the ball well tonight, and Beth (Earney) also had a good night. They just came to play."

"This game gives us an idea of what to work on," Jeffries said. "I'm not too pleased with the way we played. I know we are better than this."

The Lady Kahoks will get another shot at the Warriors in the final game of the Collinsville Tournament, which will be played at 4:15 p.m. Saturday at Fletcher Gym.

The Lady Kahoks open the four-team tournament with a match against East St. Louis at 10 a.m. Carbondale will then take on Granite City at 11:15 a.m., followed by East St. Louis vs. Granite City at 12:30 p.m.

Collinsville and Carbondale will meet at 1:45 p.m. and East St. Louis meets Carbondale at 3 p.m.

Admission for the tournament will be $2.00 for adults and students and $1 for youngsters.

Two local boxers at Olympic camp

Two Granite Citizens participated in the USA Amateur Boxing Federation Elite All-Corners Camp recently.

Derek Bloodworth and Terry (T.J.) Davis are juniors at Granite City High School. Bloodworth has been boxing for eight years. During high school, he has been a member of the wrestling team and has been on the honor roll. Davis has also been boxing for eight years. In 1986, he placed first in Golden Gloves competition in St. Louis and has taken second and third place in 1987 competitions.

The camp included extensive training sessions, defense training and improvement clinics. The objective of the camp was to expose national caliber athletes to a training camp environment and to expand the pool of talent for international events.

Joe Wallace began hitting some passes to Dix, Jim Stout and Jeff Kohler last week. A couple of nice pass plays will be needed because the Warriors don't figure to slug it out with the Flyers in the trenches all day.

"I have always enjoyed playing against them," Yates said. "There isn't anything to lose and we could come out of the game with some respect if we play well. I'm sure there is a little intimidation with the younger players, but I hope the seniors can help out there."

"We have had some good play from players like Dan Grayson, Ali Mohsen, Ben Sedlar and Kory Burton on defense. If we don't give them points and make them go 70 yards on a drive, we could be all right."

"Of course, they can go 70 yards on one play."

Check that weather forecast! NOTES: Whiteside has some stretched ligaments in his shoulder and is doubtful. Mohsen also hurt his leg against Collinsville but could see some action. In other conference action, Alton hosts Belleville East on Friday night. Belleville, Althoff, and Belleville meet with tangle while Collinsville hosts Edwardsville.

"It was good for Kirk Mills to get the goal," Baker said. "He has the skills, but he has to learn to pay the price. We don't play as well as we practice at times, but I thought we had most of the quality shots tonight."

NOTES: The Warriors outshot the Kahoks 27-13 and had a 3-2 edge in corner kicks. Graye made it saves to seven for Reekovich. The varsity will play first at Belleville East today with kickoff set for 1 p.m. at the East high school field. The junior varsity game will follow.

NFL 'sub-season' strikes on Sunday

By Ed Kamen
Journal Staff Writer

By the end of the 1986 season, St. Louis football Cardinals' fans were screaming for a quarterback to replace Neil Lomax. Now, after two terrific games by Lomax, the fans have gotten their wish. When the Big Red take the field at noon Sunday in Washington's RFK Stadium against the Redskins, the Cardinals will have a new quarterback, and a new center, and a new tight end.

The strike by the NFL Players Association has left the 28 pro teams scrambling for replacements. And when the second (or second-string) season begins Sunday, players like Shawn Halloran will be among the most scrutinized.

"I think we're all under pressure," said Halloran, a rookie free agent quarterback who will start for the Big Red (1-1). "But I don't think any of us are worried about it or we wouldn't be here. The linemen and running backs are under as much pressure as I am, it's just that I'm the quarterback."

Replacement quarterbacks around the league will get the closest inspection, especially in St. Louis, where Lomax began the season with two brilliant games, passing for a league-high 727 yards and five touchdowns.

However, with the strike, Lomax finds himself where most fans expected him to be at this point in the season—not starting for the Cardinals.

"Every team is in the same situation," Cardinals head coach Gene Stallings said. "It's not like these guys came off the street. Most of them have played pro ball and all of them played in college."

Halloran's college experience should help him in more ways than one. It was at Boston College in 1985 that Halloran had to step in and replace Heisman Trophy winner Doug Flutie. With those shoes to fill, Halloran passed for over 5,000 yards and 29 touchdowns in two years.

Now, he replaces Lomax, "in a way, it's the same, but it's really a different situation," said Halloran. "I'm not the only guy coming in to a new situation. We all are."

Halloran is one of the few identifiable names in the Big Red lineup. He won't have Roy Green or J.T. Smith to pass to. Even Stallings admits it's a rag-tag bunch.

"It's a challenge," Stallings said. "But these players have been given a chance to prove themselves and I think they'll make the most of it."

Tigers look to shut down Orangemen's McPherson

By Scott Fitzgerald
Journal Staff Writer

Don McPherson is pretty much an unknown commodity in the Midwest. But after last year's college football season, that name strikes a certain nerve with folks in Columbia, Mo.

McPherson is busy running the offense at Syracuse University, and he does it as well as anyone in the nation, according to Missouri head coach Woody Widenhofer.

"Don is tremendous, a real impact player," Widenhofer said. "He runs the option extremely well, and is capable of making a good play out of a bad one."

If anyone should know about McPherson's good plays, it's Widenhofer. Last season the Tigers got a first-hand look at McPherson when he completed 11 of 16 passes for 199 yards and one touchdown in the Orangemen's 41-9 romp of Missouri.

Playing against Oklahoma each season, Tigers' defenders are used to chasing option quarterbacks like Sooners speedster, Jamelle Hollaway. And to Widenhofer's thinking, McPherson is in the same class.

"The way he runs the option reminds me of Hollaway," Widenhofer said. "But he (McPherson) throws the ball much better."

That's a scary thought as the Tigers (2-1) prepare to host the undefeated Orangemen at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Faurot Field.

The Orangemen are coached by Dick MacPherson, who sports a 34-36-1 in his seventh season at Syracuse. Last year the Orangemen fought back to post a 5-6 record after losing their first four games. Thus far in 1987, MacPherson has orchestrated an about-face. His Orangemen have gone 4-0, recording home victories over Maryland and Miami (Ohio), and road triumphs over Rutgers and Virginia Tech.

"We're not only better than the team that went 0-4 last year, we're also improved over the team that won five of its last seven games," MacPherson said. "We think this team has the potential to be the best squad we've ever had here."

Besides quarterback McPherson, who already holds his share of passing records at Syracuse, the offense includes junior Tommy Kane, the team's most experienced wide receiver with 19 receptions for 339 yards and three touchdowns in 1986.

Defensively, nine Syracuse starters return from last season. The Orangemen are even stronger with the return of nose guard Ted Gregory, one of the team's tri-captains, who missed 1986 with a broken ankle. With Gregory in the lineup in 1985, the Orangemen were the nation's fourth-best defense against the run. Without him in 1986, they dropped from sight.

It is the running game, led by quarterback Ronnie Cameron, that has propelled Missouri to its best start in three years. MacPherson knows his defense must shut that down.

"Cameron is just like another running back out there," MacPherson said. "He's doing a great job for them. Their offense is really moving the football."

In their first three games, Missouri backs have averaged more than 330 yards per game, thus the Tigers have not needed to go to the air. Quarterbacks Cameron and John Stollenwerk have completed just six passes for 72 yards. Should the Orangemen be able to force the Tigers to throw, it could be a long afternoon for Cameron and company.

Illini, Ohio State open Big 10 slate

By Jim Woodcock
Journal Staff Writer

At halftime of Saturday's Big 10 Conference opener between Illinois and Ohio State, representatives of student academic organizations from both schools will participate in a short ceremony to pay respect to a curious-looking statuette of a turtle named "Illibuck."

Part of the ceremony to honor Illibuck, the traditional trophy the two schools have played for throughout their 75-year football rivalry, involves smoking a peace pipe. It figures to be the only time during the afternoon that peace will reign at Illinois' Memorial Stadium.

The visiting Buckeyes hold a 50-21-4 series advantage over the Illini and are favored Saturday. But in recent years, games between Illinois and Ohio State have been wild encounters.

The lone exception to the trend was last year when Ohio State recorded a 14-0 shutout over the Illini. Between 1983 and 1985, though, the games were classics.

In 1983, Illinois trailed favored Ohio State 13-10 inside the final two minutes of the Homecoming game at Memorial Stadium. What transpired was a field-length drive engineered by Illini quarterback Jack Trueman that was capped by a 26-yard touchdown run by fullback Thomas Rooks.

The touchdown gave Illinois a 17-13 win and moved the Illini toward an undefeated Big 10 season and a Rose Bowl berth against UCLA.

In 1984 at Columbus, Ohio State fullback Keith Byars shredded the Illinois defense in the second half to help the Buckeyes recover from a 28-point deficit. A touchdown by Byars in the final minute of play gave underdog Ohio State a stunning 52-35 win.

In 1985 at Champaign, Illinois bounced back from trailing 28-14 and tied the contest late in the fourth quarter. As time ran out, Illini place-kicker Chris White's field goal lifted the underdog Illini to a 31-28 win.

No wonder ABC-TV has chosen Saturday's 2:30 p.m. contest as one of its regional telecasts. The game will be shown locally on KTVI-TV (Channel 2).

While the Buckeyes battled Louisiana State last week to a 13-13 tie, the Illini had the week off. "We're going to try to use the week off as a positive," White said. "Some people look at it like it's not a bonus because you lose a competitive edge and the obvious week-to-week preparation you go through."

"We can certainly regroup physically, though."
